Directions to the Museum
From downtown (5 minute walk) wander off Main Street onto Union Street where the stewards of the whaling industry lived. Walk the brick path once swished by the grey skirts of Quaker ladies. Glance up from your stroll at the widows’ walks where merchants and families scanned the horizon for returning ships. As you approach Weymouth Lane curling up into the gray mist, the magical historic garden of the museum unfolds in front of you. Amble along the brick path to the right of the building to enter the museum.

From the town parking lot located on Washington Street, walk to the far left back corner to Fayette Street. Go right on Fayette, then left onto Union Street. Cross Weymouth Street to the brick walkway of the Museum.

From NRTA shuttle, take the Mid-island or Miacomet Route shuttle to Francis Street. Cross Union Street only on the Weymouth Street side to the brick walkway.
